TEXAS INDUSTRIAL NOTES

[By Commercial Secretaries.]

Hamilton—The Young Men's Booster Club of this city is promoting sentiment in favor of more sidewalks and at present fully ten thousand yards of concrete pathways are under construction.

San Angelo—The campaign for the test wells to determine what this section promises in the way of oil, gas or artesian water, which has been waged by the Chamber of Commerce here, is bearing fruit. It is understood that steps will soon be taken to drill wells.

Comanche—The Chamber of Commerce of this city has installed a model back yard in the rear of their office which will be used as an example of civic development. Shade trees, spreading vines and flowers have been planted, and gravel pathways laid.

Waco—The census recently taken by the Young Men's Business League indicates that the building permits issued in this city during 1913 will exceed two million dollars. At present a $250,000 hotel and a six-story office building are contemplated.

Dallas—The Guaranty State Bank and Trust Company has decided to increase its capital to $1,000,000 at once and will issue 4000 shares at a value of $150 each. The increase was made necessary by the rapidly growing business of the institution.

Paris—Another lecture on good roads is to be given here by D. Ward King, "split log dragman," and at the same time the Texas and Pacific Railway's special agricultural demonstration train will be on exhibition.

Ablene—Farmers of West Texas are beginning to realize the importance of using disc plows and much of the plowing this year has been done with this kind of plow.

Seadrift—Truck growers of this section have pledged themselves to largely increase their tomato acreage this year. A local-canning factory operated by the producers will handle the entire output.

Wills Point—Over one hundred new barns have been built in this vicinity
